The Albarregas Park concentrates one of the main natural reserves, where a powerful environmental axis is constituted, excluded by the growth of the city.

This development model involved building huge suture infrastructures of the territory, which allowed overflying the park corridor and connecting separate poles, but at the same time caused a risky under and increasingly stigmatized.

A movement of creators occupied the space below the viaduct, forced to move outside the hegemonic cultural circuit exhibited by the city. Urban activists, artists and restless, inhabiting in a seditious way the only place without apparent interests, an underground ecosystem despised by society.
The reconquest of the space places a transformation that unfolds different expressions within a marginalized landscape. A recondite space, recovered by social force through participatory work and self-construction.

THE SPOT CULTURAL PARK
The Spot collective
All the intervention brings together a complex of cultural functions, where there is diversity and plurality of actors, around programs that have been growing progressively: modules of artistic production, music, film, agriculture, gastronomy and a series of other activities, around skate plaza, main detonator and park articulator space.
